Introduction:

Our school vision is based on John 10:10 'Life in all its Fullness' and focuses on educating the whole child. We encourage learners to develop the skills needed to 'become lifelong learners,' through 'enriching children's moral and spiritual development in a safe, secure and nurturing environment;' we aim to equip children with the skills they need to become '21st century global citizens' and RSE is an essential part of this curriculum. Effective RSE teaching enables children to develop the skills needed (both as they grow up and in adulthood) and enables them to embrace the challenges of creating a happy and successful adult life. Pupils need knowledge that will enable them to make informed decisions about their wellbeing, health and relationships and to build their self-efficacy. Pupils can also put this knowledge into practice as they develop the capacity to make sound decisions when facing risks, challenges and complex contexts. Everyone faces difficult situations in their lives. These subjects can support young people to develop resilience, to know how and when to ask for help, and to know where to access support.

The Church of England encourages Relationship and Sex Education to be placed in the context of Christian teaching and spiritual development, with sexual relationships being understood in the context of loving, faithful relationships. When learning about diversity in relationships education, Valuing All God's Children notes the importance of educating children on a variety of relationships to help combat homophobic, biphobic and transphobic bullying in both primary and secondary schools. It promotes an inclusive school vision, giving pupils a sense of their own dignity and a vision of the innate dignity of all humankind. Inclusivity and hospitality should be hallmarks of Church of England schools, every child should be revered and respected as a member of a community where we are all known and loved by God.

Our RSE curriculum has been developed in consultation with staff, governors, parents and children and is based on advice and guidance from:

- The PSHE Association
- The DFE February 2019 Guidance for RSE
- NSPCC Guidance and Resources
- Principles of good RSE 2017
- Valuing all God's Children 2019
- The Church of England's Response to Consultation on RSE and Health Education 2018

We aim to deliver a curriculum that:

- Ensuring RSE is an identifiable part of the PSHE curriculum which has planned and timetabled lessons across both KS1 and KS2,
- Is taught by trained staff,
- Works in partnership with parents and carers, informing parents about what their child will be learning and about how they can contribute at home,
- Delivers lessons where children feel safe and encourage participation by using a variety of teaching approaches with opportunity to develop critical thinking and relationship skills,
- Is based on reliable sources of information including about the law and legal rights, distinguishing between fact and opinion,
- Promotes safe, equal, caring and enjoyable relationships and discusses real life issues appropriate to the age and stage of pupils, including friendships, families and safe relationships, including online relationships,
- Gives a positive view of human sexuality, so that pupils can learn about their bodies and sexual and reproductive health in ways that are appropriate to their ages and maturity,
- Gives pupils the opportunity to reflect on values and influences (such as from peers, media, faith and culture) that may shape attitudes to relationships and sex and nurtures respect for different views,
- Includes about learning about how to get help when needed,
- Fosters gender equality and equality of LGBT+ (lesbian, gay, bisexual, trans) and challenges all forms of discrimination,
- Meets the needs of learners including those with SEND, disabilities and EAL,
- Seeks pupil's views about RSE so that teaching can be made relevant to their real lives and assessed and adapted as needs change.

These 12 points are based on research and evidence by the 'Principles of Good RSE 2017' and are supported by a number of other organisations (NSPCC, The Children's Society, Barnardo's, NCB and the Sexual Health Forum)

At South Bersted Church of England School, pupils come from varied social backgrounds, differing faiths and both single and dual families. Sensitivity is therefore needed to avoid causing hurt and offence to them and their families, and allow such children to feel a sense of great worth and importance. The Sex and Relationship Education (RSE) programme provided at the school will promote the spiritual, moral, cultural, mental and physical development of pupils; preparing them for opportunities, responsibilities and experiences of adult life.

Roles and Responsibilities

The RSE program will be taught by the class teacher, no supply or visiting teachers will lead the teaching of PSHE or RSE. The curriculum will be overseen by the PSHE Subject Leader and will be monitored by the Headteacher and Governing Body. Teaching staff will receive resources, training and planning to support them in the delivery of RSE and parents will be invited to a workshop before the teaching block commences to be shown the planning, resources and be given strategies to support from home. Parents will be given the opportunity to withdraw their child from the Sex Education element of the RSE curriculum that is not part of the 2014 National Science Curriculum. Parents are not able to withdraw from the relationship element of RSE as this is statutory for primary and secondary schools from 2020.

Framework for Sex and Relationships:

The National Curriculum, 2014, sets out the legal requirements of Science for Key Stages 1 and 2.

Key Stage 1

- Notice that animals, including humans, have offspring which grow into adults.

Key Stage 2

- Describe the differences in the life cycles of a mammal, an amphibian, an insect and a bird.
- Describe the life process of reproduction in some plants and animals.
- Describe the changes as humans develop to old age.
- Recognise that living things produce offspring of the same kind, but normally offspring vary and are not identical to their parents.

EYFS

- Children learn about the concept of male and female and about young animals. In on-going PSHE work, they develop skills to form friendships and think about relationships with others.

Key Stage 1

- Through work in science, children learn about the life cycles of some animals, understand the idea of growing from young to old and learn that all living things reproduce. They learn about the importance of personal hygiene to maintain good health.
- In RE and PSHE, children reflect on family relationships, different family groups and friendship. They learn about rituals and traditions associated with birth, marriage and death and talk about the emotions involved.
- They begin to co-operate with others in work and play and begin to recognise the range of human emotions and ways to deal with them.

Key Stage 2

- In science, children build on their knowledge of life cycles and learn about the basic biology of human reproduction.
- They will develop skills needed to form relationships and to respect other people's emotions and feelings. They will consider how to make simple choices and exercise some basic techniques for resisting pressures.
- Across both Key Stages, pupils are taught about the importance of e-safety and how to stay safe when using the electronic devices including cameras, smart phones, computers and tablets.

Parents do not have the right to withdraw their child/children from these above aspects of the Science curriculum.

Outcomes of the Relationships Curriculum

Delivery of RSE:

- It is our intention all children have the opportunity to experience a programme of RSE at a level which is appropriate for their age and physical development with differentiated provision required.
- Parents and carers will receive prior notification of the RSE Programme to enable them to discuss issues with staff or their own children.
- Materials used in the RSE Programme will be available to parents during RSE workshops which each class will run before the teaching module begins
- The RSE Programme will cover aspects of personal hygiene, puberty, menstruation, pregnancy and birth.
- The children will be taught in both single and mixed gender groups as appropriate.

Sensitive issues requiring special consideration:

- At the beginning of each lesson, expectations will be made clear; providing a clear structure for answering sensitive or difficult questions.
- Teachers will use an anonymous question box so children are confident in asking questions.
- Children will have access to worry boxes during and after the teaching.
- Teachers will endeavour to answer questions as honestly as possible but questions they do not feel comfortable answering within the classroom, or ones which are not age appropriate.
- If questions are asked by children outside the RSE Programme, the designated sex education teacher will use their discretion in answering them in an appropriate manner and at an appropriate and suitable time.
- At South Bersted C of E Primary School, we will not teach, or answer questions on rape, oral sex, exploitative or violent sexual practices, incest, abortion, prostitution or about forms of sexual intercourse. If a child asks a question on any of the named topics, teachers will explain that this is not a matter to be dealt with by the school and that the child should consult his or her parents or carers for an answer. All teachers will give an answer in the same way, to all children regarding all issues not to be taught or discussed, using the phrase, "We cannot answer that question for you, but you may want to ask an adult at home."

Child Protection / Confidentiality:

Teachers need to be aware that effective RSE, which brings an understanding of what is and is not acceptable in a relationship, may lead to disclosure of a safeguarding issue.

The staff member will inform the Headteacher /Designated Safeguard Lead (DSL) in line with the school's procedures for child protection and safeguarding.

A member of staff cannot promise confidentiality if concerns exist.

Monitoring and Review of the Policy:

The monitoring of RSE lessons will be undertaken as part of the whole school's overall schedule and will be undertaken by the Headteacher.

The policy and its contents will be reviewed annually.
